Dear students, dear exhibitors,

Digitization, technological innovation and artificial intelligence are not only rapidly changing our everyday lives but also have a great impact on the labor market. The need for specialized skills creates both, great opportunities and challenges.

For students, finding a career path may seem more challenging than ever, given the ever-growing number of options. For employers, finding and recruiting the best employees who not only match the job profile but also have personal and intercultural skills, remains a challenge — especially considering the ongoing global pandemic.

The Jacobs Career Fair 2022 offers excellent opportunities for employers, alumni, and students alike, enhancing networking, career development, and recruitment efforts. Representatives from companies and organizations of different size, and from a variety of sectors have the chance to connect with our aspiring students and graduates and provide first-hand insights at an early stage in their promising careers. Shaped by living and learning on an international campus, with residents from more than 110 nations, these young individuals are not only experts in their respective fields of study but are also equipped with excellent intercultural and leadership skills. Our professional exhibitors highlight job opportunities and career paths in worldwide enterprises, regional companies, research institutes, non-governmental and governmental agencies, as well as freshly founded start-ups.

The Jacobs Career Fair will again take place as a virtual event. The digital format offers everyone a safe environment to network and participate in the manifold workshops and career talks, which are led by experienced human resources professionals. We are grateful that numerous of Jacobs University alumni are among the speakers and will share their invaluable perspectives.

Now in its eighth year, I am confident that our Career Fair will once again be a place of flourishing exchange and a land of (digital) opportunities. Esteemed students, alumni, and employers, I wish you all inspiring and successful talks. I am sure, you will find what you are looking for.

Best regards,

Professor Fabio Pammolli
President of Jacobs University
Highly dynamic changes in market and competitive conditions pose major challenges for the economy. More than ever, companies are forced to act agile. In order to maintain and expand competitiveness in the future, knowledge and innovation must be placed at the center of strategic corporate decisions.

In their innovation efforts, companies can count on an excellent, growing network of science and research facilities here in Bremen. Above all, they benefit from the large pool of well-educated graduates of the universities in the state of Bremen. The transfer of ideas from person to person and an effective transition from the universities into the economy is a key success factor for companies.

The “Jacobs Career Fair” event provides an excellent platform to gather together companies, international and local talents. Companies from various different industries have the opportunity to meet well-qualified and motivated young academics. Students have the chance to talk to their potential employers and can find out about the entry and career options that are important for their personal growth.

The “Jacobs Career Fair” is a great opportunity for all young academics and corporate representatives in Bremen: they can get in touch with each other to exchange ideas about their future perspectives. In light of this, I hope that all the participants at this event will have interesting discussions and will establish new, valuable relationships.

President of the Bremen Chamber of Commerce – IHK for Bremen and Bremerhaven
Dear students and fellow alumni,

In today’s climate, it has become more apparent that employability is a daunting topic that every student and fresh graduate has to grapple with. With more than a year of social distancing behind us, there are certainly many hurdles we’ve overcome. There is, however, even more that we have learned about the job market - lessons that allow us to see the silver lining and moments of opportunity for members of the Jacobs community.

As the world has been contending with the pandemic, your alma mater has managed to find new ways for you to continue living the Jacobs experience.

That is because Jacobs is more than a university, it is a global community. Virtual networking opportunities with alumni have been created for you, because the importance of connecting has become more apparent now than ever before. Networking with alumni allows you to collect crucial advice for your career path, and also to make connections with companies that will lead you to your first professional steps. It allows you to receive reassurance and input about the choices you are considering and clarity about your path.

We have two important alumni organizations waiting to connect with you: the Jacobs University Foundation of America (JUFA), based in the USA, and the Alumni Association, based in Germany. Both organizations have a virtual offering to help you get connected. Take advantage of all the online opportunities at your disposal!

Attend all the sessions available, meet as many alumni as you can, hear their stories, and ask questions. Jacobians are known for being pioneers for a reason. Make sure you continue to live this legacy with us. You embody the core values of this University, and companies, NGOs, and research institutions are very much looking forward to meeting you.

The world will soon start turning faster again, and the economy needs new talent now to keep up with the demands of the future. Be engaged, get involved, and stay connected. I wish you a productive Career Fair and all the best on starting your professional journey!

WELCOME ADDRESS

Class of 2012
Studying at Jacobs University gives personal contacts and professional connections, often for the whole life. The Jacobs University Alumni Association was founded by the first graduating class in 2004 with the aim to foster relationships between students after graduation, to create and nurture a lifelong bond between the university and its graduates, as well as to support current and future generations of students.

All members of the Alumni Association have the opportunity to share contacts, stories and expertise with other individuals who consider Jacobs University a lifelong home. An online account for keeping in touch with all graduates and classmates, yearly Homecoming and Class Reunions on campus, a growing number of local chapters in more and more cities around Europe and worldwide, and many other opportunities to get involved and to benefit from exclusive services: all this gives rise to the broad, multicultural, international networking community of Jacobs University Alumni.

Jacobs University’s students are creative, forward thinking, and driven. These qualities, combined with a concentrated know-how and an international student body, result in the perfect ecosystem to develop your business idea on Bremen campus. We believe students should not have to choose between completing a degree or pursuing a business idea; we believe students can do both. For this reason, at Jacobs University we support our students to develop their business initiative from idea to market launch.

Since J-CUB was first offered at Jacobs University in 2019, more than 25 businesses have been conceptualized. The Start-Up option at Jacobs offers a framework that encourages use of design thinking, lean Start-Up methodologies, and real-world applications.

Of course, a business idea will only flourish if it can succeed beyond the boundaries of Jacobs. Students are encouraged and supported to reach out to companies and other potential partners to fulfill their business ambitions. This can be in the form of mentorship or collaborating with companies or investors.

For more information contact us directly or meet us at the virtual Start-Up panel during the 2022 Jacobs Career Fair!
